

Journey Continues for 2020 Top Ambassador

The journey has been continuing for Vuyane Latha of Zamdela, Sasolburg, after being crowned as the winner in the Child Care Category of 100 Young Ambassadors, which is a platform for young South Africans to be ambassadors in their communities and make a difference in their field of work. The categories included Health, Civil Rights, Child Care, Education and Environment. Through his Non-profit Organisation called Kopano ke Matla Charity Organisation, the young ambassador has been hard at work. He focused mainly at knitting blankets, gloves and donating toys to various orphanages and vulnerable children across the province of Free State. The organisation started receiving donations of knitted squares of blankets that had to be knitted together and be combined to a full blanket. The organisation approached grandmothers who can give a helping hand in their spare time in achieving the organisation's objectives. The idea paid off as the organisation has more than ten grannies who are helping voluntarily with this knit-a-blanket project. Recently he celebrated mother's day with Denneysville first time mothers, and donated knitted jerseys and hats to kids.
